Company History

In 1990, a group of practice management experts joined forces under the name American Medical Finance, Inc. Their primary goal was to offer reimbursement management services to healthcare providers. After developing and serving a strong customer base, the principals then turned their attention to electronic claims processing services, thus providing the foundation for Claimsnet.com.

To date, Claimsnet.com employees have more than 100 years of combined experience in the healthcare industry. We have applied that experience to automate transaction and reporting processes via the Internet, using a highly secure connection and Internet architecture to ease deployment and minimize cost. The Internet claims process dramatically reduces administrative costs by providing access to claim and statement processing, electronic remittance advice, eligibility and data reporting with a browser at a single website.

Traditional claims processing solutions (i.e., consisting of software installation at the physician site and transmission to a bulletin board) proved to have numerous inconsistencies. In 1995, Claimsnet.com developed a solution, which allowed multiple transactions and services to be offered through a single connection and interface (i.e., the Internet). This innovation has allowed Claimsnet.com to register and service physicians and dentists across the country at an affordable rate.

Claims.now

Through Claims.now, Claimsnet.com offers practitioners an easy-to-use electronic claims processing system that, with a personal computer, can be accessed via a simple internet connection. Rather than using private networks or dial-up connection, Claimsnet.com uses the Internet to connect directly to the management system, resulting in
